

Final programme

Venue: Convention centre Het Pand, Onderbergen 1, 9000 Gent

Day 1: Thursday December 11

09.30-09.45	Introduction
09.45-10.45	Plenary Dirk Geeraerts: When the Ground turns into an abyss
10.45-11.15	Coffee break
11.15-11.45	Maria Josep Jarque & Esther Pascual Univ. of Barcelona & Univ. of Groningen “What? That!” Relative clauses as intersubjective constructions in signed languages	Yao Tong & Alan Cienki Free University Amsterdam & Free University Amsterdam/ Moscow State Linguistic University Motor concepts, metaphor and gesture: The comparison between referential gestures referring to concrete and metaphorical motor concepts	Marlies Jansegers, Clara Vanderschueren & Renata Enghels Ghent University The polysemy of the Spanish verb sentir: a Behavioral Profile analysis
11.45-12.15	Yipu Wei & Jacqueline Evers-Vermeul Utrecht University A three-layer approach to the cognitive representation and linguistic marking of subjectivity and perspective	Kasper Kok Free University Amsterdam A non-categorical approach to the grammatical functions of gesture	Marie Rasson Université Catholique de Louvain The Spanish indefinite pronoun uno: interpretation and discursive functioning
12.15-12.45	Kobie van Krieken & José Sanders Radboud Univ. Nijmegen Viewpoint representation and legitimization in Dutch journalistic crime narratives	Sabina Tabacaru & Maarten Lemmens University of Lille 3 Raised eyebrows as gestural triggers in interactional humor	Jeroen Claes University of Antwerp The pluralization of presentational haber in Caribbean Spanish: A study in Cognitive Construction Grammar and comparative sociolinguistics

12.45-14.00	Lunch break
14.00-14.30	Torsten Leuschner Ghent University V1-Conditionals in German and English: a Constructionalization Perspective	Egbert Fortuin Leiden University Deconstructing a verbal illusion: the 'No X is too Y to Z' construction and the rhetoric of negation	Jóhanna Barðdal Ghent University Modeling Language Change with Construction Grammar
14.30-15.00	Stef Spronck University of Leuven/The Australian National University From reportative evidentiality to cohesion: a corpus study between stance and discourse reference	Tim Geleyn & Timothy Colleman Ghent University Predicting the dative alternation in early modern Dutch	Sabina Tabacaru University of Lille 3 Humorous implications and meanings: a study of sarcasm in interactional humor
15.00-15.30	Paul van Eecke Sony Computer Science Laboratory Paris Conceptualisation-driven Machine Translation: a Case Study for the Dutch and English Verb Phrase	Evie Coussé & Freek van de Velde Univ. of Stockholm & Univ. of Leuven A reassessment of the diachrony of the auxiliary selection alternance in Dutch verbal clusters with a modal	Myriam Bouveret University of Rouen Categorization, prototype and extensions : GIVE in French across text genres
15.30-16.00	Remi van Trijp Sony Computer Science Laboratory Paris Chopping down the Syntax Tree	Maaïke Beliën Delft University of Technology Two types of Dutch intransitive verbs? The role of attested data	Lise Hamelin & Dominique Legallois Université de Cergy-Pontoise & Université de Caen Towards a semantics of the NP V NP / SVO construction in French and English
	Coffee break
16.30-17.00	Mohsen Bakhtiar Eötvös Loránd University Budapest	Maurice Vliegen Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam	Simon Devylder Jean Moulin Univ. Lyon

	Flies Flying around Lollipops: Metaphorical Conceptualization of Islamic Hijab in Iran	Blijken, lijken en schijnen in gesproken en geschreven Nederlands	Language is a bio-cultural hybrid: A cross-linguistic study of English and Mandarin expressions of the Self from a cognitive point of view
17.00- 17.30	Julien Perrez & Min Reuchamps Université de Liège & Université Catholique de Louvain The “Belgian Tetris”: assessing the political impact of metaphors on citizens’ perception of and attitude towards Belgian federalism.	Ronny Boogaart & Robert van Etten Leiden University Collexemes, constructions, and polysemy: zullen (‘will’/‘shall’) and gaan (‘be going to’)	Steven Schoonjans University of Leuven What can gestures tell us about particle meanings?
17.30- 18.30	Plenary Gerard Steen: Words, concepts, referents, and perspectives: Aspects of metaphor in discourse

Friday December 12

09.00- 10.00	Plenary Ewa Dabrowska: Speakers, usage, culture: language as a phenomenon of the third kind
10.00- 10.30	Theme session on ‘Cognitive Linguistics and phenomenology’ (discussant: Frank Brisard, University of Antwerp) Paul Sambre University of Leuven Interaction and intersubjectivity: the phenomenology of multimodal co- constructions in instrumentals	Natalia Levshina Université Catholique de Louvain Iconicity and usage: a quantitative corpus-based study of European causatives
10.30- 11.00	Theme session on ‘Cognitive Linguistics and phenomenology’ Els Elffers University of Amsterdam Intentionality. Phenomenological and cognitive aspects	Valentina Russo Humboldt University Berlin & Università degli studi di Napoli "L'Orientale" The epistemic large-quantity construction in Italian: [non so quant_ + N/V] (I don’t know how many/much + N/V)

11.00-11.30	Coffee break
11.00-11.30	Theme session on ‘Cognitive Linguistics and phenomenology’ Ad Foolen Radboud University Nijmegen A linguistic handshake with phenomenology	Magdalena Honcova & Wei-lun Lu Masaryk University Brno The Use of Parallel Texts as a New Approach to Spatial Cognition: The Case of English and Czech
11.30-12.00	Theme session on ‘Cognitive Linguistics and phenomenology’ Dirk Geeraerts University of Leuven Empathetic ambiguity and phenomenological immediacy	Kris Helincks Ghent University Interactional shifts between the three terms of address in everyday situations in Chilean Spanish
12.00-12.30	Theme session on ‘Cognitive Linguistics and phenomenology’ General discussion	Rachel Hatchard & Ruth Herbert University of Sheffield What remains? A constructivist examination of verbs in aphasia
12.30-13.30	Lunch break
13.30-14.30	Plenary Muriel Norde: On parents and peers in constructional networks
14.30-15.00	Dorothee Kohl-Dietrich, Constanze Juchem-Grundmann, Wolfgang Schnotz University of Koblenz-Landau Classroom Applications of Cognitive Linguistic Key Concepts	Sanne Tanghe Ghent University Discourse position and polyfunctionality of the Spanish markers anda, vamos, vaya and venga .
15.00-15.30	Marjolijn Verspoor University of Groningen A dynamic usage based approach to L2 instruction	Barbara De Cock Université Catholique de Louvain Gender-neutral or not: feminine forms as self-reference in Spanish

15.30-16.00	Coffee break
16.00-16.30	Hendrik De Smet, Kristel Van Goethem & Gudrun Vanderbauwhede Univ. of Leuven & Université Catholique de Louvain & Université de Mons Parallel sources, different outcomes: a corpus-based study of the ‘far from X’ construction in Dutch, English and French	Barend Beekhuizen Leiden University A usage-based model of early grammatical development
16.30-17.00	Sergeiy Sandler Ben-Gurion University Fictive interaction in the Hebrew Bible	Véronique Verhagen & Maria Mos Tilburg University The (in)stability of familiarity judgments: individual variation and the invariant bigger pictures
17.00-17.30	BeneCLa Business meeting + Conclusions	